The Village Campus of Bon Air Baptist Church and the Richmond Autism Integration Network (RAIN) have developed a partnership, which includes hosting a prom for students with autism.

"Honestly, when our church and RAIN began partnering together, I was entirely uninformed about autism. As we developed a relationship, we learned about the great need for resources and services for individuals and families who live with or near the autism spectrum. The impact of RAIN is unquestioned; the need for the church in our world is evident. This process of relationship-building expanded my understanding of the image of God in which we are all created. Let the love of God rain."

“We are not doing rocket science. We are simply attempting to integrate our ministries in order to better represent the Kingdom of God.”
